CASE STUDY

SPACE TECH, AERIAL
TECH AND MILITARY

Let's Go Global,
Together!

OVERVIEW

Cockpit to the cabin, nose to tail, and across the flight experience, our client is one of the world's largest aerospace systems, avionics, interior systems, and information management services for commercial aircraft. Our client solutions deliver enhanced passenger safety and comfort, maximized operational efficiency, secure and reliable connectivity, and improved availability, maintainability, and sustainability.

CHALLENGE

As a complex growing organization with Global Reach, our client is constantly on the lookout for top global talent and subject matter skills across multiple disciplines. With its recent investment in the Middle East, our client needed quick access to qualified candidates on the sales and general management side, with operational support.

RESULTS

- ✓ reesmarxGLOBAL had to rely on its global reach and years of experience working in the Middle East and its vast and reliable partner network to find suitable candidates - from VP and EVP level to Head of Customer Support and Commercialization.
- ✓ Additionally, reesmarxGLOBAL provided valuable guidance on how to build the appropriate sales force in the region and how to navigate resource management and risk management in a complex, multi-tier global organization.
